DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed with an amendment on 13 February 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The arguments concerning the independent claims 6, 15 and 24 (pp. 9-12 and p. 13 in part) are moot in view of the new basis of rejection given as para. 3-6 below. The additional arguments are discussed at para. 8-9 below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.
3. Claims 6-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being obvious over Herz et al. in view of Kramer et al.
4. Herz et al. teaches (independent claims 6, 15 and 24) a method executed in a computer system, computer program product and apparatus for targeting advertisements, the method comprising: defining at least one category (cluster) as containing target object documents that may be retrieved (col. 8 lines 48-49 and 58-59); associating at least one supercategory (cluster) with multiple categories (subclusters) by mapping the multiple categories to the at least one supercategory (col. 7 lines 35-39 and col. 24 lines 12-45); associating an advertisement with target object X, the advertisement being separate from the documents contained in the at least one category (col. 39 line 64 to col. 40 line 21); determining at least one term associated with a user search query (col. 56 lines 16-18 or col. 66 lines 41-42); determining a first of said at least one cluster/supercategory based on at least one term/search profile P of said user search query and said multiple subclusters/categories of the at least one cluster/supercategory (col. 25 lines 1-17); and displaying an advertisement associated with said target object X (col. 40 lines 22-24).

Art Unit: 3622

5. Herz et al. does not teach associating an advertisement with at least one of said supercategories. Kramer et al. teaches associating an advertisement with at least one of said supercategories (col. 32 lines 24-54, where illuminations are ads and the “children’s books” aggregate attribute is the example supercategory with which the ad/illumination is associated). Because Kramer et al. presents a simple and economical hierarchical structure for selecting the best ad, while Herz et al. (col. 40 lines 1-21) presents only three general approaches which lack economy (i.e., do not suggest limiting the first choice to a few ads), it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention, to add the teachings of Kramer et al. to those of Herz et al.
6. Herz et al. teaches every feature of the instant invention except associating an ad with a supercategory. Herz et al. does teach associating an ad with a target object, but teaches only three general options for selecting this ad (col. 40, lines 1-21). None of the three options are very helpful. Kramer et al. recognizes this problem of selecting the best ad from many candidates, and suggests that a solution is to first associate an ad with a supercategory. This inherently limits the candidates (to eight in the Kramer et al. example). The solution offered by Kramer et al. is so simple and effective that one of ordinary skill in the art would be compelled to adopt it in place of the ad selection proposals in Herz et al.
7. Herz et al. also teaches: claims 7, 16 and 25 (Fig. 7, described at col. 24 lines 12-45, col. 7 lines 35-39 and col. 13 lines 61-66); claims 8, 17, 10 and 19 (col. 9 lines 63-66 and col. 15 lines 56-67, where attributes reads on “additional terms”, and said terms/attributes are associated with objects as well as queries, and therefore associated with clusters/categories); claims 9 and 18 (col. 9 lines 15-17); claims 11 and 20 (Fig. 16); and claims 12 and 21 (col. 4 line 54 and col. 26 lines 17-19).
8. Applicant argues (p. 12, with respect to claim 7) that Herz et al. does not teach ranking to determine said first supercategory. The reference teaches this feature at many points, but applicant is correct that no citation had been provided. A citation to col. 13 lines 61-66 is now provided in para. 7 above. Applicant also argues (p. 12 bottom, with respect to claim 9) that col. 9 lines 15-17 do not teach business listing information. The citation teaches target objects comprising publicly traded stocks and mutual funds. Those are businesses and such a collection of target objects constitutes a listing, so the reference does teach a business listing, which reads on business listing information.

Art Unit: 3622

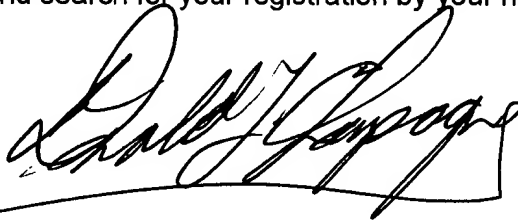

9. Applicant's argument (p. 14 middle) with respect to claim 12 is moot because this limitation was subsequently found to be taught (end of para. 7 above).
10. Herz et al. does not teach (claims 13-14 and 22-23) forming a banner ad term list. Because the reference does teach online targeted advertising (col. 7 lines 6-7), and banner ads are a common form of online advertising, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention, to apply Herz et al. to banner ads as target objects, which reads on forming a banner ad term list.

Conclusion

11. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).
12. A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

- Art Unit: 3622

15. AFTER FINAL PRACTICE – Consistent with MPEP § 706.07(f) and 713.09, prosecution generally ends with the final rejection. Examiner will grant an interview after final only when applicant presents compelling evidence that “disposal or clarification for appeal may be accomplished with only nominal further consideration” (MPEP § 713.09). The burden is on applicant to demonstrate this requirement, preferably in no more than 25 words. Amendments are entered after final only when the amendments will clearly simplify issues, or put the case into condition for allowance, clearly and without additional search or more than nominal consideration. Applicant may have after final arguments considered and amendments entered by filing an RCE.
16. ABANDONMENT – If examiner cannot by telephone verify applicant’s intent to continue prosecution, the application is subject to abandonment six months after mailing of the last Office action. The agent, attorney or applicant point of contact is responsible for assuring that the Office has their telephone number. Agents and attorneys may verify their registration information including telephone number at the Office’s web site, www.uspto.gov. At the top of the home page, click on Site Index.
